SINCE 1950

FROM THE MOUNTAINS...

Fascination and respect for nature have always been at the core of Ciot's product selection.

For over 50 years, we have travelled the world's quarries to find treasures hidden deep in the mountains. We are continuously amazed at the eons of natural history recorded in every slab of precious stone and marble.

We strive to unearth the most exclusive and unique natural products, and this time, it's deep in the forest that we have fallen in love with one of nature's most beautiful and noble materials: WOOD.

...TO THE FOREST

Very much like natural stone, every layer and coloration of wood is a testimony to the passage of time which makes every tree unique.

Long driven to find the most exclusive stone products, we now pour the same passion into wood, researching its history and provenance. We seek the utmost quality, the richest colors and the most exquisite finishes the world's best artisans can produce.

Ciot brings to your home the best the forest has to offer.

OAK FOR THE AGES

For centuries, French white oak has been the flooring material of choice for castles, palaces and other fine homes worldwide, due to its soft, buttery colour and high tannin content.

White oak offers a blank canvas to work from. It has good stability and allows for a wide range of finishes and textures, making it a favourite amongst architects and designers.

As oak ages, the tannin it contains acts as a colouring agent, giving it a rich patina and a time-worn appearance. Fuming the wood accelerates this process and produces a more even colour.

In fact, these tannins explain why white oak has become the material of choice to make wine barrels, instilling their distinct flavours to fine wines.

All our hardwood floors, just like wine, will only get finer with age.

A RESPONSIBLE CHOICE

The genesis of Ciot wood flooring required not only the highest standards of quality but also strict sustainability with regard to logging and forest regeneration.

Environmentally sustainable forestry practices include selective cutting, natural seeding and tree planting to ensure healthy forests that continue to provide timber for future generations while playing a vital role in preserving the environment.

Ciot works with carefully chosen suppliers to ensure that our wood floors offer not only beauty but peace of mind for today's environmentally conscious customers.

COLLECTIONS

DESIGNED FOR EVERYDAY USE

The finest homes have one thing in common: they're inviting. We believe a floor can create coziness and a feeling of well-being. So, we select every product with this in mind when designing all our hardwood flooring collections.

We seek out the finest finishes for every type of home. Because the floor sets the groundwork for your décor, it should be timeless, long-lasting and make every step feel good.

Ciot proudly offers its four exclusive collections, inspired by the most welcoming interiors from opulent mansions to industrial lofts:

PARC MONCEAU

CURATED BY CHÊNE DE L'EST

Inspired by European castles and luxury residences, Ciot is proud to introduce its PARC MONCEAU Collection to the North American market.

Curated by Chêne de l'est, and made entirely in France by master wood craftsmen, this high-quality, authentic collection is made of the most precious French oak. Its natural aged look makes it the flooring of choice for any connoisseur.

The PARC MONCEAU Collection is certified "Parquets de France", which imposes a high standard of quality for the raw materials and finishes, as well as for traceability and sustainability. It also respects carpentry methods that have been used for centuries by master carpenters.

ABOUT CHÊNE DE L'EST

Chêne de l'est was founded in 1960 by Joseph Bach, a local carpenter who started out in a small workshop originally built by his grandfather. From these humble beginnings, Chêne de l'est has grown to be one of France's premier hardwood flooring companies.

Like Ciot, Chêne de l'est is a family-owned business with a great success story. The process used by Chêne de l'est is unrivalled in the market and guarantees a product of outstanding quality and unique finishes.

PARC MONCEAU

THE JOURNEY

LOG WATERING

Water acts as a natural repellent for some fungi and bugs that can alter or stain the wood.

LUMBER SORTING

Pieces are categorized by size, grade and intended use.

EDGING & TRIMMING

The primary saw removes irregular edges, then the wood is cut into uniform pieces according to market dimensions.

STICKERING

Lumber is stacked with spacers that allow air to circulate within the stack.

PRE-DRYING

Over two months, the wood is progressively dried, losing 6-9% of its moisture content.

DRYING & STABILIZING

Lumber is kiln-dried. Up to 40% of the moisture will be removed from each plank in a 2-4 week process, reducing the size of the original plank.

PLANING

The surface of each piece of lumber is smoothed, and its width and thickness are made uniform.

FINISHING

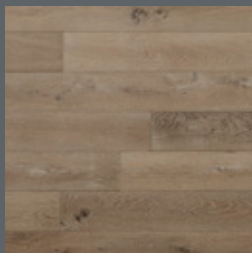

In up to eight steps, the final finish and texture is applied by hand by skilled finishers.

PARQUET DE VERSAILLES

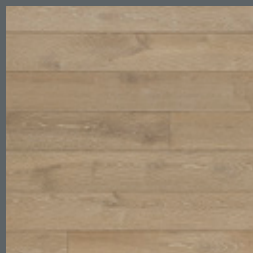

These diagonal woodwork squares were first introduced at the Château de Versailles in 1684 to replace the marble flooring, which required constant washing. The name for this pattern has remained, and our woodwork respects the original techniques and proportions.

VENDÔME, CAMARGUE

VENDÔME

The VENDÔME Collection is all about balance between preserving character and maximizing potential.

Since no trees are exactly alike, this collection respects the authenticity of the raw material by showcasing different lengths and/or widths. The final result is a floor that has a hand-crafted and relaxed look reflecting a rich history.

The finishes and subtle nuances are as deep as they are warm and sumptuous. This collection brings together the best of traditional craftsmanship and modern methods.

Because classics never go out of style, this collection is and will remain the epitome of style.
